Mental Health integration between Health & Social Care

“Successful joint working between health and social care staff is a vital component of improving lives of vulnerable adults and children”

Why do it?

- ✓ Improving the efficiency of the care system as a whole
- ✓ Co-ordinating the provision of care
- ✓ Improving the planning and commissioning of care so that health and social care services complement rather than disrupt each other

Or....

- ✓ Because we have to.....

- Policy paper
2010 to 2015 government policy: health and social care integration

Updated 8 May 2015

- Actions

“We want everybody who uses both health and social care services to have integrated care – services that work together to give the best care based on a person’s personal circumstances.”

- Helping local councils and healthcare organisations provide integrated care

“We want local councils to help health and social care organisations to work together to meet people’s needs, for example by making sure that care services know what help somebody needs in their home when they leave hospital.”

How successful are we in Hull in Integration between Health and Social Care?

OR

Integration

Integration - Mental Health & Learning Disabilities

- we are pretty good!

- ✓ We know who each other are
- ✓ We talk to each other formally and informally
- ✓ We hold each other to account – which is a good thing
- ✓ We plan development of future services together

What hinders?

- £££ Money
- Health free at the point of delivery –
Social Care means tested

Innovation

NHS Hull CCG, Hull City Council and Humber NHS FT

- ✓ First time in the region there will be formal joint health and social care agreement with a Mental Health NHS Trust for adult mental health and learning disability provision
- ✓ Clear service specification
- ✓ Clear agreement on the ££
- ✓ NHS leading on behalf of the Local Authority

Most importantly.....

✓ It's the right thing for people in the City of Hull!
