Hello everyone and welcome to our Transforming Care Partnership (TCP) newsletter. This newsletter tells you what Humber TCP has been doing to make services better for people with learning disabilities and/or autism.

What is a Transforming Care Partnership (TCP) and who is part of it?

Transforming Care Partnerships (TCP's) are a group of people who work together to make sure Transforming Care is happening for all people in Hull, East Riding of Yorkshire and North East Lincolnshire.

Transforming Care Partnerships are made up of lots of different people. In the Humber TCP this includes:

- People who use services

- People with learning disabilities who live in the community of Hull, East Riding of Yorkshire and North East Lincolnshire.

- Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs), councils and mental health services from Hull, East Riding of Yorkshire, North East Lincolnshire.
- We are going to work with family carers in 2018.

- NHS England Yorkshire and Humber Specialised Commissioning Team
- National Probation service - Hull and East Riding

A range of support for people to live the best life possible

Over the last 18 months the Humber Transforming Care Partnership has been working with different organisations to make sure there are more options to meet the needs of people with learning disabilities in our area.

We have found more organisations who will work with people who have complex needs.

By working with more organisations people with learning disabilities and families will have more choice.

We have worked with people with learning disabilities and families to agree a standard of what people should expect from council and care services when they are in crisis.

Our Vision:

The Humber Transforming Care Partnership wants to make sure that children, young people and adults with a learning disability and/or autism have the same opportunities and choices as everyone else. We want people to live good and valued lives and be treated with respect. This vision is for all people with learning disabilities and/or autism living in the East Riding of Yorkshire, Hull and North East Lincolnshire.

Supporting GPs to make services better for people with learning disabilities

100 people came to an event to talk about how to make GP services better for people with learning disabilities.

Doctors (GPs), Nurses and staff from across Hull came to find out more.

CASE Training drama group shared their real life experiences of visiting GP surgeries.

The people that came to the event also heard from carers, people with learning disabilities and members of staff from NHS England.

Everyone said they enjoyed the event. Especially the communication session which looked at using sign language and the session on the mortality review.

Intensive Support Services

The Humber Transforming Care Partnership (TCP) wants to set up a new Intensive Support Service (ISS) in Hull and East Riding of Yorkshire.

This service will help people with learning disabilities and/or autism to get the right care and stay safe.

Some members of staff will move from Townend Court Inpatient Unit to the new Intensive Support Service.

The Intensive Support Service will support people with learning disabilities and/or autism and their family carers when they are in crisis.

This service will help people in their homes instead of admitting people to hospital.

Townend Court will carry on being the local Assessment and Treatment unit and a base for the Community Learning Disability Services.

East Riding's Worklink celebrates 10th anniversary

East Riding's Worklink has helped hundreds of people with learning disabilities from across East Riding of Yorkshire to get into work.

East Riding's Worklink has made a real difference to the lives of people with learning disabilities by helping people to get qualifications before they get a job.

Over 360 people have used Worklink since it started. Just under half of all of those people have gone on to get a job.

Councillor Richard Harrap said that: "Worklink is a ground breaking scheme which has helped numerous people secure employment by taking a fresh approach to learning disabilities."

The 9 Principles of Building the Right Support

2. My family and paid support and care staff get the help they need to support me to live in the community

3. I have choice and control over how my health and care needs are met

4. My care and support is person centred, planned, proactive and coordinated

5. I have a good and meaningful everyday life

1. I have a choice about where I want to live

6. I get good care and support from mainstream health services

9. If I am admitted for treatment in a hospital setting because my health needs can't be met in the community; the care I get should be high quality and I don't stay there longer than I need to.

8. If I need it, I get support to stay out of trouble

7. I can access specialist health and social care in the community
